HAMLER.

Mrs. Mima Henderson was very Mrs. Mima Henderson was very agreeably surprised on Monday evening of last week, by a few of her friends who called to extend birthday congratulations. This surprise party was different from most parties of the kind owing to the fact that it was a surprise. Mrs. Henderson after she had sufficiently recovered herself, which did not take her long, as she is equal to most any kind of an emergency, commenced welcoming her guests and it was no small undertaking for she had to shake hands with:
Misses Maggie and Minnie Hays,
Georgia Dickerhoof, Myrtle McIntyre,
Amelia and Josie Guilliom, Ola Eddy, Nina Fiser, Mattie Gregg, Lizzie Mc Grannahan, Josie Jackman, Belle Quinn, Cinda and Hulda Gebson, Tensie Roland, Mrs. E. O. Jones and Mrs. G. Butler, Messrs. L. J. Eger, Ben White, Nick Guilliom, Frank Hays, Dave Wolf, Jud Measel, Chas. Henderson, Mike Jackman, E. O. Jones, Elmer Dickerhoff, Silas Bevens, Lee Rose, William Disher and George Butler. After each one was personally welcomed and made to feel that she was glad they had come, although she said she did nt think it was fair to surprise her so. She set about en-tertaining them and to say that the evening was pleasantly spent, does not express it. The ladies had pro-vided refreshments which were partaken of about twelve o'clock, and en joyed hugely. After the wreck caused by the intermissiom for refreshments had been cleared away, Mrs. Henderson was presented with a very handsome center table. When it came time to say good night, we (the writer was in it") did so but not until Mrs. Henderson promised to have another birth day as soon as
